OUR STORY

Fenders Diner has been a north Georgia classic for decades, but our history goes back much further.

The building that is now home to Fenders Diner has been feeding the community of Cornelia for well over 100 years. If these walls could talk, the stories they would tell. The 100+ year old brick building started life as Burrell's Market some time between the late 1900's to early 1920's, when it was owned by Winfred Wallace Burrell. He opened the store after his family moved down from Burton. According to his grandson, the old Burrell's farm is now under water. Lake Burton was filled between 1913 and 1920.

The market closed in the 1950's, but a few decades later caught the eye of a couple local visionaries. Russ & Judie Vinson were on a trip up north and they purchased an old diner with intentions to relocate it to North Georgia. Their goal was to create a space that took you back to a simpler time, and provided a unique experience for all of North Georgia. That dream was realized with the opening of Fenders Diner in 1996. A few years later, Bradley & Sherry Cook took over from the Vinson's and successfully operated Fenders for many years. During that time they expanded the hours, the menu, and the business as Cornelia endured both good times and bad.

Today, with Jay & Melissa Reeder at the helm, we're proud to carry on the tradition of those who came before us. Keeping with tradition, we focus on serving exceptional comfort food and unwavering hospitality. We love the rich history of Cornelia, and are proud to write the next chapter as we continue serving food and hospitality for years to come.

Thank you for visiting our Diner! We appreciate your support and the opportunity to serve you. We hope you enjoy your visit and are able to come back soon!
